DETAILS OF THE SITUATION ARE TERRIBLE.

THOUSANDS PERISHED

Corpses Are Thrown Into the Sea or Cramated Without Any Indentification,

Galveston, Tex .- (Special.)-The last days of Pompeli were not as terrible as the last days of Galveston. Bonfires are burning all over the city. There are the funeral pyres of a thousand corpses cast back on shore at tide yesterday. The cremation has been a necessity to prevent epidemic. The negroes refuse to work and the towns-to leave the doomed Island. They look as if haunted.

NINETY NEGROES, SHOT.

Last night ninety negroes were shot by the citizen soldlery while looting and mutilating the bodies of the dead for plunder. The ninety probably do not represent a tenth of those who were engaged in the ghoulish practice. The situation has got beyond the control of been equaled. Without apparent reason the authorities. The powers in control the waters sudedn'y began to subside have been quarreling. Last night at at 2 a. m. Within twenty minutes they 7 o'clock every citizen soldier under had gone down two feet, and before command of Major Fayling was called daylight the streets were practically in, disarmed and mustered out of the freed of the flood waters. In the meanservice. Chief of Police Ketchum then time the wind had veered to the southtook charge and the major was re- east, Very few, if any, buildings eslieved of his command. During an hour caped injury. There is hardly a habitand a half the city was unguarded, and able dry house in the city. When the the looters held high carnival. As the major's work was unusually brilliant the citizens are furious. Last night the main thoroughfare was intensely dark and deserted, not a lamp in the three blocks from avenue N to avenue city being lighted.

LIFE IS HELD CHEAP.

Life is held cheap in Galveston. The awful presence of death of the great and the small has made men callous, and a shooting or killing attracts little or no attention. No one walks the streets unarmed and no one is permitted to be about at all except on a pass first obtained from the mayor. This morning the situation from the police standpoint is improved. A hundred of the state militia of the Houston light guards are patrolling the west end of the city. General McKibben, U. S. A., commander of the department of the gulf, and Adjutant General Scurry of Texas are on the ground and are advising with Mayor Jones and Chief of Police Ketchum.

In al lother respects the city is worse off than on the morning after the tragedy. A terrible stench permeates the at mosphere. It comes from the bodies of a thousand unburied dead festering in the debris that cannot be removed for weeks on account of the paucity of laborers.

DEAD MAY NUMBER 8,000.

The loss of life this morning is estimated by conservative people at 8,000. Besides the thousand or more bodies yet pinneed beneath the wreckage, hundreds of cadavers, all putrid and bloated, float beneath smashed-up piers. Hundreds of bodies are floating in full view in the bay. Every tide brings scores back to the shore. During the early part of yesterday trenches were dug and bodies thrown into them, but it soon became an impossibility to bury al lthe dead, and the health authorities decided upon cremation as an expedient. Funeral fires were built and torches applied.

Houston, Tex .- (Special.)-Summarizing the situation as it now appears, every business edifice in Galveston is stocks are damaged by water. probably destroyed or damaged. The entire shipping in port is wrecked, the was carried away, the crew being swept grain elevators demolished in part, the across the bay fourteen miles to Texas supplies damaged by water, fresh-water supply cut off, 20,000 persons homeless, 1,000 to 4,000 persons killed. Communication is destroyed and destruction everywhere.

aster at Galveston: The city is in ruins, and the dead will ton were being fished out of the water number probably 5,000. I am just from the city, having been commissioned by the mayor and citizens' committee to get in touch with the outside world and appeal for help. Houston was the nearest point at which working telegraph instruments could be found, and the wires as well as nearly all the buildings between here and the Gulf of Mexico, being wrecked. When I left Galveston the people were organizing for the prompt burial of the dead, distribution of food, and all necessary work after a period of disaster. FURY OF THE TEMPEST.

words can adequately describe its in- injury than a few bruised fingers. tensity, and by a flood which turned "Dr. S. O. Young, secretary of the the city into a raging sea. The weather cotton exchange, was knocked senseless | bond issue of $15,000,000.

bureau records show that the wind at- when his house collapsed, but was retained a velocity of eighty-four miles vived by the water and was carried an hour, when the measuring instru- ten blocks by the hurricane. ment was blown away, so it is impossible to tell what was the maximum. day morning. Previous to that a great were carrying her having to hold her storm had been raging in the gulf and high above their heads, as the water the tide was very high. The wind at was five feet deep when she was moved.

the city was going to be visited with one in the house was hurt. disaster. Hundreds of residences along ENTIRE CITY IS SUBMERGED. people are paralyzed with fright and and bay met, and by dark the entire the bay. The Kendall Castle was carsuffering, or are making preparations city was submerged. The flooding of ried over the flats from the Thirtythe electric light plant and the gas third street wharf to Texas City and This morning the first train is an- plants left the city in darkness. To go lies in the wreckage of the Inman nounced to carry refugees to Texas into the streets was to court death. The pier. The Norwegian steamer Gyller is City, seven miles across the bay, and wind was then at cyclonic velocity, stranded between Texas City and Virsince daylight a thousand men, women roofs, cisterns, portions of buildings, ginia Point. An ocean liner was swiriand children have been crowding into telegraph poles and walls were falling catboats, lifeboats, sloops, schooners and the noise of the winds and the and a single steamboat, the Lawrence, crashing of the buildings was terrifying all bent on escaping from the city, in the extreme, The wind and waters the wreckage of the railroad bridges, Nearly all of them have lost some rose steadily from dark until 2 o'clock The steamship Taunton was carried member of their family. Not one of Sunday morning. During all this time across Pelican point and is stranded them 'carries a valise. The women the people of Galveston were like rats wear no hats, are unkempt and ill-clad. in traps. The highest portion of the city was four to five feet under water, while in the great majority of cases the flats and the bow of the British steamstreets were submerged to a depth of er Red Cross, which had previously ten feet. To leave a house was to been hurled there. The stern of the

> in the wreckage. WORK OF THE WINDS.

"Such a night of agony has seldom people who had escaped death went out city is wiped out, and that one-half of at daylight to view the work of the tempest and floods they saw the most horrible sights imaginable. In the P, in Trenmont street, I saw eight bodies. Four corpses were in one yard. The whole of the business front for blocks in from the gulf was stripped tured along the bay front during the dwellings, the great bathing establish- There are but six buildings at Texas having been either carried out to sea or its ruins piled in a pyramid far into the town, according to the vagaries of

LARGEST BUILDINGS WRECKED. "The first hurried glance over the city showed that the largest structures, suppose dto be the most substantially built, suffered the greatest. The Orphans' home, Twenty-first street and avenue M, fell like a house of cards. How many dead children and refugees are in the ruins could not be ascertained. Of the sick in St. Mary's infirmary, together with the attendants, only eight are understood to have been

"The Old Woman's home, in Rosenberg avenue, collapsed; the Rosenberg school house is a mass of wreckage. The Ball high school is but an empty shell, crushed and broken. Every church in the city, with possibly one or two exceptions, is in ruins.

SOLDIERS REPORTED DEAD.

are reported dead, they having been in temporary quarters which gave them no protection against the tempest or

"No report has been received from the Catholic orphan asylum down the island, but it seems impossible that it could have withstood the hurricane. If it fell all the inmates were no doubt lost, for there was no aid within a

"The bay from end to end is in ruins. Nothing but piling and the wreck of great warehouses remain. The elevators lost all their superworks and their

"The life-saving station at Fort point wharves almost totally destroyed, food City. I saw Captain, Haines yesterday and he told me that his wife and one of his crew were drowned.

WRECKAGE AT TEXAS CITY. "The shore at Texas City contains enough wreckage to rebuild a city. STORY TOLD BY MR. SPILLANE. Eight persons who were swept across Richard Spillant, a well known news- the bay during the storm were picked paper man of Galveston, reached Hous- up there alive. Five corpses were also ton after a terrible experience, and picked up. There were three fatalities gives the following account of the dis- in Texas City. In addition to the liv- as an outlaw beyond the pale, and a ing and the dead which the storm cast "One of the most awful tragedies of up at Texas City, caskets and coffins modern times has visited Galveston. from one of the cemeteries at Galves-> there yesterday. DANGER OF PESTILENCE.

"The cotton mills, the bagging factory, the gas works, the electric light works and nearly all the industrial establishments of the city are either wrecked or crippled. The flood left a slime about one inch deep over the whole city, and unless fast progress is made in burying corpses and carcasses of animals there is danger of pestilence.

MANY MIRACULOUS ESCAPES. "Some of the stories of the escapes are miraculous. William Nisbett, a cotton man, was buried in the ruins of "The wreck of Galveston was brought the Cotton Exchange saloon, and when about by a tempest so terrible that no dug out in the morning had no further

"A woman who had just given birth to a child was carried from her home "The storm began at 2 o'clock Satur- to a house a block distant, the men who first came from the north and was in "Many stories were current of houses direct opposition to the force from the falling and inmates escaping. Clarence gulf. While the storm in gulf piled the N. Ousley, editor of the Evening Tribwater upon the beach side of the city, une, had his family and the families the north wind piled the water from of two neighbors in his house, when the bay on to the bay part of the city. the lower half crumbled and the upper "About noon it became evident that part slipped down into the water. Not "The Mistrot house, in the west end, the beach front were hurriedly aban- was turned into a hospital. All of the doned, the families fleeing to dwellings regular hospitals of the city were unin higher portions of the city. Every available. Of the new Southern Pacific home was opened to the refugees, white works little remains but the piling. Half or black. The winds were rising con- a million feet of lumber was carried stantly and it rained in torrents. The away, and Engineer Boschke says as wind was so fierce that the rain cut far as the company is concerned it might as well star over again,

"Eight ocean steamers were torn "By 3 o'clock the waters of the gulf from their moorings and stranded in ed around through the West bay, crashed through the bay bridges and is now lying in a few feet of water near about ten miles up to East bay. The Mallery steamer Alamo was torn from her wharf and dashed upon Pelican drown. To remain was to court death Alamo is stove in and the bow of the Red Cross is crushed.

"Down the channel to the jetties two other ocean steamships lie grounded, Some schooners, barges and smaller craft are strewn bottom side up along the slips of the piers. The tug Louise of the Houston Direct Navigation compary is also a wreck.

"It will take a week to tabulate the dead and the missing and to get anything near an approximate idea of the monetary loss. It is safe to assume that one-half of the property of the the residents have to face absolute pov-

RUIN AT TEXAS CITY.

"At Texas City three of the residents were drowned. One man stepped into a well by a mischance and his corpse was found there. Two other men venof every vestige of habitation, the height of the storm and were killed. ments, the Olympia and every structure City that do not tell the story of the storm. The hotel is a complete ruin. The office of the Texas City company has some of the walls standing with all the upper walls stripped off. Nothing remains of the piers except the piling The wreckage from Galveston litters the shore for miles, and is a hundred yards or more wide. "For ten miles inland from the shore it is a common sight to see small craft, such as steam launches, schooners and oyster sloops. The life-boat of the lifesaving station was carried half a mile inland, while a vessel that was anchored in Moses bayou lies high and dry five miles up from Lamarque."

COUPLE OF PROCLAMATIONS.

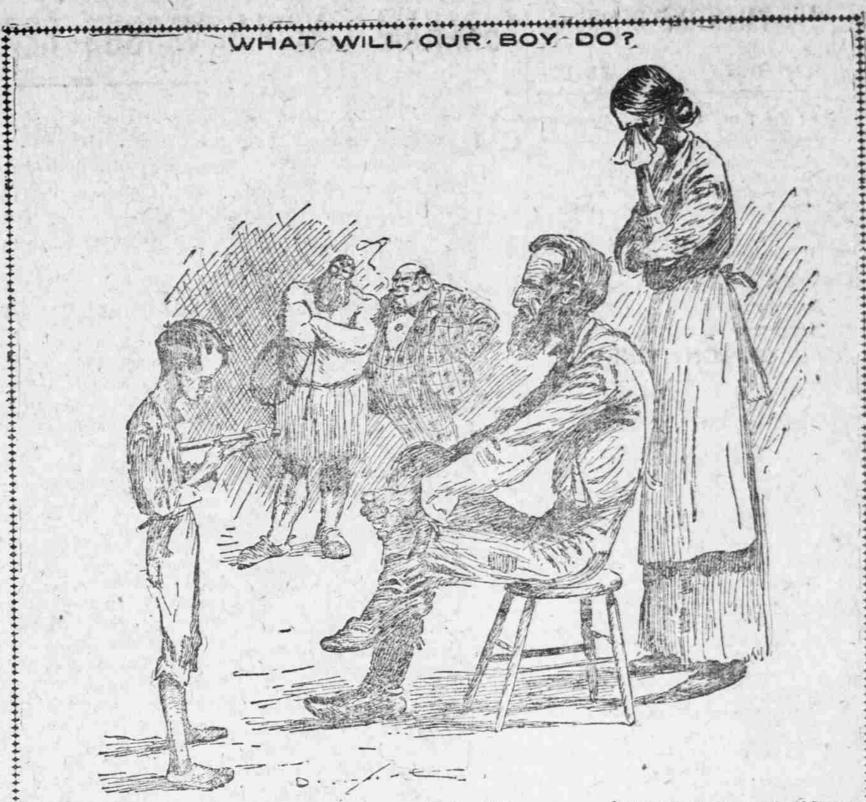

Americans and the Filipinos Both Make Declaration.

Washington, D. C .- (Special.)-The postmaster general has received from F. W. Vaille, director general of posts in the Philippines, copies of two un-"At the forts nearly all the soldiers dated proclamations, one by the American peace commissioners and the other by the insurgents, issued presumably just before the last mail left the islands for the United States.

The American proclamation was of pacific character, but warned the natives that they had nothing to expect from continued opposition to the American occupation. It promised free transportation home to all insurgents who surrendered their arms and directed the confiscation of all money and hemp belonging to the insurgent government. The natives were notified that the American soldiers were expected to pay for everything they obtained from the Filipinos in the way of food and sup plies, and requested the natives to report' any case of looting or extortion to the nearest military commander. The Filipino proclamation, issued in reply to this, announced that for a period of ten days amnesty would be extended to all Filipino spies in the employ of the American forces if they presented themselves to the insurgent military or civil authorities. A single exception was made in the case of one Marcello Abinsay, who was denounced reward was offered for his apprehension, dead or alive, while the death penalty was pronounced against any one found in his company at the time of his capture. The proclamation further declared that all the threats of the Americans of pursuing the insurgents to the hills were idle, as the Americans were short of food and ammunition and had received no reinforcements for many months.

FLOUR MILL TRUST IN COURT. Milwaukee, Wis .- (Special.)-The Central Trust company of New York this afternoon instituted foreclosure proceedings against all the property of the United States Flour Milling company, known as the flour trust. The bill asks that all property be sold, the company having failed to make the firs payment of interest under a mortgage dated May 1, 1899, issued to cover

THE FATHER-What will my boy do? Things have indeed changed. Your outlook is bluer even than when I began life.

SLAVERY UNDER OLD GLORY.

(From Dmaha World-Herald.)

THE SULU AGREEMENT.

Following is the agreement entered into between John C. Bates and the sultan of Sulu and approved by Mr. McKinley:

KEEP THIS IN MIND. First, this agreement provides that the sovereignty of the United States is extended over the Sulu islands.

States flag shall be the official em-Then it is provided that any slave shall have the right to purchase his The thirteenth amendment to the constitution provides that "neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall exist within the United States or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Notice now that William McKinley approved an agreement whereby the Sulu islands were made subject to salaries: the method whereby slaves were to obtain their freedom.

Here is the Sulu agreement in full: Article I. The sovereignty of the To Dato Puyo United States over the whole archipela- To Dato Amir Haissin go of Sulu and its dependencies is de- To Hadji Buter clared and acknowledged.

will be used in the archipelago of Sulu and its dependencies on land and sea. Article III. The rights and dignities of his higness, the sultan, and his datos shall be fully respected, and Moros shall not be interfered with on account of their religion; all their religlous customs shall be respected and no one shall be persecuted on account of Article IV. While the United States nay occupy and control such points in the archipelago of Sulu as public interest seem to demard, encroachment will not be made upon the lands immediately about the residence of his highness, the sultan, unless military necessity requires such occupation in case of war with a foreign power, and where the property of individuals is taken, due compensation will be made in each case. They Come From." Any person can purchase land in the archipelago of Sulu and hold the same by obtaining the consent of the sultan and coming to a satisfactory agreement with the owner of the land, and such purchase shall be immediately registered in the proper office of the United States government.

Article V. All trade in the domestic products of the archipelago of Sulu, when carrie don by the sultan and his people with any part of the Philippine islands, and when conducted under the American flag, shall be free, unlimited and undutiable.

Article VI. The sultan of Sulu shall $20 by him to his master." be allowed to communicate direct with the governor general of the Philippine Islands in making complaint against the commanding officer of Sulu or against any naval commander. Article VII. The introduction of firearms and war materials is forbidden except under specific authority of the governor general of the Philippines. Article VIII. Piracy must be suppressed and the sultan and his datos into the woman's house and chatter agree to heartily co-operate with the United States authorities to that end human flesh on sale, and later on perand to make every possible effort to arrest and bring to justice all persons en- the yard that I might make a photogaged in piracy.

In all other cases persons charged with loons extending from the waist to the imbursing purchasers of gold bricks.

and punishment.

ago of Sulu shall have the right to only she would have to charge me more purchase freedom by paying to the master the usual market value.

try should state their wishes to the Moro authorities and ask for an escort, Then it is provided that the United but it is hoped this will become unnecessary as we know each other better. Article XII. The United States will give full protection to the sultan and tribes in a recent war with its neighhis subjects in case any foreign nation bors." should attempt to impose upon them. Article XIII. The United States will not sell the island of Sulu or any other island of the Sulu archipelago to any foreign nation without the consent of the sultan of Sulu.

Article XIV. The United States government will pay the following monthly United States jurisdiction and at the To the sultan$250 same time purchase was designated as To Dato Rajah Muda 75

To Dato Attik To Dato Calbe 75 To Dato Joakanian 75 To Habib Mura 40 Article II. The United States flag To Serif Saguin 15 Signed in triplicate, in English and Sulu, at Jolo, this 20th day of August, A. O. 1899 (13th Arakuil, 1397).

THE SULTAN SULU, DATO RAJAH, DATO ATTIK, DATO CALEE, DATO JOAKANIAN.

Signed, J. C. BATES, Brigadier eGneral, U. S. V.

Approved by the president, WILLIAM M'KINLEY. 'UNCLE SAM'S SLAVES AND

WHERE THEY COME FROM." On June 24, 1900, a number of republican newspapers throughout the country printed an interesting letter from Frank G. Carpenter, the well known correspondent. This article was entitled: "Uncle Sam's Slaves and Where Does not this have an odd sound to people who have been told that slavery could not exist under the stars and

Mr. Carpenter writes from the Sulu islands, and says he was offered four slaves for fifty gold dollars. This is considerably cheaper than the market price-as fixed by Mr. McKinley-at which the slaves may purchase their

Mr. Carpenter says: "According to our treaty, as I understand it, any slave in the island ruled by the suitan of Sulu can be freed upon payment of McKinley, these four slaves would have been required to pay $80 for their freedom, but Mr. Carpenter could purchase them with a $30 discount.

Concerning his opportunity, Mr. Car-

"They were owned by a woman, who claims she is a Christian, and not by one of the Mohammedan Moros. I went with her for some time about the suaded her to bring the slaves out in graph of them. Three of them were Article IX. Where crimes are com- boys, ranging in age from 16 to 6. The mitted by Moros against Moros the other was a girl of 12, the age at which government of the sultan will bring to girls are sometimes married down here trial and punishment the criminals and on the edge of the equator. The small offenders, who will be delivered to the est boy had nothing on but a shirt government of the sultan by the United | which barely reached to his waist, and States authorities if in their possession. the other two wore only coarse pant knees. The girl was half naked, her only garment being a wide strip of dirty cotton cloth wrapped about her waist and fastened there in a knot. I had a photograph made, with myself standing beside her, and she reached to crimes or offense will be delivered to my shoulder. As I stood thus, the slave the United States authorities for trial owner evidently thought I wanted the girl and said 'Mucho bueno,' or 'very Article X. Any slave in the archipel- good,' and told me that if I bought her in proportion than she asked for the job lot. She said the little girl should Article XI. At present Americans or be worth at least $15, and seemed surforeigners wishing to go into the coun- prised when I did not jump at the bar-

> "I asked her where the slaves came from. She replied that they had been brought in from the mountains, having been captured by one of the savage

Then Mr. Carpenter shows the wide atitude which slave owners have with 'Uncle Sam's slaves" of 1900. He says: "Had I bought them, I am teld I would have had, according to the custom which prevails in the country about here, power of life and death over them, and that I could have killed them without risk of a criminal investiga-

To show the extent of slavery under the stars and stripes in the Sulus, Mr. Carpenter says: -

"Slavery is common among the people of Mindanao and the Sulu archipelago, and I am led to believe that there is a form of debt slavery in some of the islands further north. Here in Mindanao there are not only debt slaves, but slaves by birth and by conquest. I have been told at every place I have stopped that slavery is common and that women especially are bought and sold. All of the Moro datos have numerous slaves and the richer of their subjects have as many as they can sup-

"The Visayans of this island, at least, have slaves, although it is nominally against the Spanish law. Still human beings are bought and sold, and even the officials have been accustomed to own them. I met this afternoon the ex-president of the town of Davao. He is a rich Visayan, who has a large farm not far from here. He owns a number of farms not far from here. He owns a number of slaves and keeps several in his family for servants. I have been told that the Christians seldom sell slaves, although they buy them, and that it is common for a man to purchase children to bring them up for work about the house." Mr. Carpenter also deals with another vice. He says:

"The question of polygamy is a more serious noe. This is connected with the Mohammedan religion, and of the United States attempts to abolish it we shall have a war on our hands which will probably last until the Moro population is wiped out."

Republican party leaders frequently boast that the McKinley administration s a "business administration." Is it 'business' for the American people to hoist their flag and assert their sovereignty where slavery must be tolerated among Christians as well as among Mohammedans and where polygamy must not be disturbed for fear of war? The American people will not forget that it was William McKinley who signed an agreement wherein purchase was made the method of emancipation, and wherein $20 per head was fixed as the price of human freedom. The situation described by Carpenter will bring the blush of shame to many American citizens.

Holders of confederate bonds in Engand have held a meeting and expressed reat faith in the early redemption of he bonds, "based on the well known onesty of the American people." Very lattering indeed, but the great Amerian people are not in the habit of re-